QUESTION 1

Study the sources below and then answer the question which follows.

Source A

Lords do wrong to poor men by unreasonable taxes. The poor die from hunger and thirst and cold. In this manner, the lords eat and drink poor men's flesh and blood. We must question whether the laws enforcing serfdom are comfortable to the law of Christ and it would seem that they are not. The Church has an important role to play in this.

[John Wycliffe, in a sermon given around 1380]

Source B

During the next wool season, the wool merchants must pay an extra tax on wool beyond the usual duty. The price paid to growers in England must not be lessened to make merchants avoid this tax. The wool trade is of great importance and is the main source of loans to the monarchy. Both King and Parliament know this.

[An extract from a statement of the King, 1337]

What can be learnt from Sources A and B about some of the main characteristics of life in fourteenth-century England?

QUESTION 2

Study the source below and then answer the question which follows.

Source C

The plague has left many parish churches without a priest to care for their parishioners. Therefore, to provide for the salvation of souls you should at once publicly command all men that, if they are on the point of death and cannot secure the services of a priest, then they should make confession to each other. If no man is present, then even to a woman.

[Ralph of Shrewsbury, the Bishop of Bath, writing in a letter to all the priests in his area, January 1349]

To what extent does this source accurately reflect the immediate impact of the Black Death? [8]

[In your answer you should refer to the strengths and limitations of the source and use your own knowledge and understanding of the historical context.]
