Cait owned a hotel. In the grounds, there was a large outdoor swimming pool that was very popular with guests. Cait knew that the steps leading into the pool were loose. She put a sign at the top of the steps saying, 'Danger. Keep out.' Don, a hotel guest, ignored the sign and used the steps to climb into the pool. The steps collapsed. Don hit his head badly on the side of the pool and fractured his skull.

Gaby, Faye's friend, was a passenger in Faye's car at the time of the accident. She was uninjured, and immediately telephoned Harley, Faye's father, and told him what had happened. Harley rushed to the scene of the accident. He saw the wreckage of Faye's car and Faye herself being taken on a stretcher into an ambulance. Both Gaby and Harley suffered prolonged and serious depression as a result of their experiences.

Lola stored large quantities of petrol for the go-karts in barrels. On several occasions, teenagers had tried to get into the go-karting track at night to race each other. One night, 14-year-old Max broke in and dropped a lighted match into one of the barrels. This caused a fire which spread rapidly and burned down Kelvin's summer house.

Kelvin may be granted an injunction if his claim against Lola for the noise from the go-karting track succeeds. Assess the factors which will influence a judge when deciding whether or not to grant an injunction.
