Alex bought some shoes from BriteStore. Alex decided after two weeks that he did not like them, so he gave them to a friend, Cal. Shortly afterwards, Alex and Cal argued and stopped being friends. A few weeks later, Cal found that the shoes were falling to pieces. He wanted to return the shoes to BriteStore and get replacement shoes.

A week before she was due to go on a two-week holiday, Deeta asked Emma at Emma Travel about suitcases permitted to be taken into the passenger section of aeroplanes. Emma directed her to a display of small suitcases in front of which was a notice saying, 'All these suitcases are allowed in the passenger section of aeroplanes.' Deeta chose one of the suitcases and paid £65 to Emma Travel. Unfortunately, Emma did not notice that the suitcase chosen by Deeta had been wrongly included in the display. The suitcase was slightly larger than permitted to be taken into the passenger section.

Advise Deeta as to her rights and remedies against Emma Travel under the Consumer Rights Act 2015, including any associated common law remedy.

Kaleb asked Henry to service his car. Henry said that the car would be ready 'quickly'. Three weeks later, Henry finally returned the car. Kaleb immediately found that none of the car's lights worked properly. In addition, the delay in returning the car resulted in Kaleb having to pay for a taxi in order to attend a medical appointment.

Assess the contribution made by different sources of law to the legal rules that Inga, Janet and Kaleb might use when they claim against Henry.
