Mark Scheme

This booklet contains the mark scheme for the English Unit 2: The Writer’s Craft Foundation Tier Question Paper.

The questions on this paper have been designed to enable candidates to show what they can achieve in relation to a detailed study of a text. The specification aims to encourage students to:

i respond to texts critically, sensitively and in detail, selecting appropriate ways to convey their response, using textual evidence as appropriate;

ii explore relationships and comparisons between texts, selecting and evaluating relevant material.

Examiners should allow the candidate to determine their own approach, and assess what the candidate has offered, rather than judging it against predetermined ideas of what an answer should contain.

Examiners must assure themselves that, before they score through passages they consider to be completely irrelevant, they have made every effort to appreciate the candidate’s approach to the question.

A crossed-out response should be marked if there is no other response on the paper.

Assessment Objectives
The following Assessment Objectives will be assessed in this unit and are referenced in the mark grids.

AO2: Reading
i Read and understand texts, selecting material appropriate to purpose, collating from different sources and making comparisons and cross-references as appropriate.

ii Develop and sustain interpretations of writers’ ideas and perspectives.

iii Explain and evaluate how writers use linguistic, grammatical, structural and presentational features to achieve effects and engage and influence the reader.

iv Understand texts in their social, cultural and historical contexts.

AO3: Writing
i Write clearly, effectively and imaginatively, using and adapting forms and selecting vocabulary appropriate to task and purpose in ways that engage the reader.

ii Organise information and ideas into structured and sequenced sentences, paragraphs and whole texts, using a variety of linguistic and structural features to support cohesion and overall coherence.

iii Use a range of sentence structures for clarity, purpose and effect, with accurate punctuation and spelling.

Indicative content

Candidates will make inferences and judgements about the character of Friar Lawrence as seen in the extract by reference to the following points.

- The Friar is critical of Romeo and of young men in general: ‘Not truly in their hearts, but in their eyes’
- He is aware of his own age: ‘my ancient ears’
- He sees the difference between ‘doting’ and ‘loving’
- He is willing to help Romeo: ‘I’ll thy assistant be’
- He is optimistic, wanting ‘to turn your households’ rancour to pure love’.

Reward any other valid points

Candidates may draw on any relevant part of the play provided that the focus is on the supernatural (AO2ii).

Candidates must refer to ONE OTHER PART OF THE PLAY where the supernatural plays a part, for instance:
- the witches’ first appearance
- either of Macbeth’s visits to the witches
- Macbeth’s behaviour when it is clearly under the influence of what the witches have told him
- the appearance of the dagger before the murder of Duncan.

Candidates may interpret ‘importance’ in a number of ways, which could include:
- how that part of the play shows characters influenced by the supernatural
- how that part of the play shows the supernatural affecting relationships
- how the supernatural in that part of the play drives the plot
- what Shakespeare is saying about the supernatural

Candidates will make inferences and judgements about the character of Shylock as seen in the extract by reference to the following points:

- Shylock claims he has been criticised often by Antonio but has ‘reacted with a patient shrug’
- he shows bitterness towards the treatment he has received: ‘You that did void your rheum upon my beard’
- he may be enjoying the turnaround in fortunes: ‘Hath a dog money?’
- he is sarcastic: ‘for these courtesies’
- he pretends to be shocked by Antonio’s reaction: ‘look how you storm!’
- he pretends to be forgiving: ‘I would be friends with you’.

Candidates may draw on any relevant part of the play provided that the focus is on conflict (AO2ii).

Candidates must refer to ONE OTHER PART OF THE PLAY where conflict is shown or referred to, for instance:
- expressions of dislike between Jews and Christians
- Portia’s reactions to her father’s will and the suitors
- Jessica’s conflict with her father
- confrontations in Act 4 Scene 1
- the fake conflict between Portia and Bassanio over the ring.

Candidates may interpret ‘importance’ in a number of ways, which could include:
- how that part of the play shows characters influenced by conflict
- how that part of the play shows conflict affecting relationships
- how conflict in that part of the play drives the plot
- what Shakespeare is saying about conflict

- she is critical: ‘self-satisfied’
- she bites the girl’s finger without knowing exactly why
- she may be affected by the girl’s touching her and apparent ‘ownership’
- she is moody and downbeat: ‘trudged’, ‘no mood for social chit-chat’
- she is repelled by the Santa Claus’s smell and appearance
- she is rude: ‘I wanna bike’ and behaves ‘sullenly’.

Candidates may select from a range of material from the extract. These could include the following points:

- the girl is compared with a ‘porcelain doll’ with ‘peachy smooth skin’ and ‘glossy curls’ all of which seem positive, if unreal, descriptions
- her hat is personified: ‘sat’, ‘self-satisfied’, ‘proud’
- hyperbole is used to present Santa’s ‘gale of bad breath’
- adjectival phrases increase the sense of Santa’s seediness: ‘shiny with perspiration’, ‘flecked with ash’
- his ‘slipped’ beard adds to the absurd picture.

(10 marks)

Indicative content

Candidates may draw on any relevant part of the novel provided that the focus is on a father and daughter relationship (AO2ii) and a reference is made to the social, cultural, historical context (AO2iv).

Candidates must refer to ONE OTHER PART OF THE NOVEL where a father and daughter relationship is shown or referred to, for instance:
- Meena’s closeness to her father, often referred to and demonstrated at the fete, for example
- the shoplifting incident
- Meena’s outburst at the family gathering
- the many examples of papa’s moral guidance and forbearance.

Be prepared to reward discussion of other father-daughter relationships, eg Anita and Roberto.

Candidates may interpret ‘importance’ in a number of ways, which could include:
- how that part of the novel shows characters influenced by the relationship
- how that part of the novel shows developments in the relationship
- how the relationship in that part of the novel drives the plot
- what the writer is saying about the relationship
- how the novel’s structure is affected by the relationship in that part of the novel.

References to context are likely to focus on Meena’s increasing experimentation with relationships and how her father remains a firm point of reference.

Reward any other valid points.

Indicative content

Candidates may select from a range of material from the extract. These could include the following points:

- the narrator knows that resistance is useless: ‘resigned to my fate’
- the simile ‘like someone preparing for a lengthy sojourn in prison’ stresses his fatalism
- the word ‘thugs’ indicates his contempt for his accusers
- he betrays his emotions when showing concern for the books through the metaphor ‘fought back the tears’
- he sees his immediate future as one of ‘torture’, ‘beatings’ and ‘floggings’ – harsh words suggesting physical violence.

(10 marks)

Indicative content

Candidates may draw on any relevant part of the novel provided that the focus is on telling stories (AO2ii) and a reference is made to the social, cultural, historical context (AO2iv).

Candidates must refer to ONE OTHER PART OF THE NOVEL where telling stories is shown or referred to, for instance:

- exposure to the great storytellers of Western literature
- the telling of the films
- the Miller’s songs and their effects on Luo, the narrator, the Little Seamstress, the villagers and other characters.

Candidates may interpret ‘importance’ in a number of ways, which could include:

- how that part of the novel shows characters influenced by the telling of stories
- how that part of the novel shows telling stories affecting relationships
- how telling stories in that part of the novel drives the plot
- what the writer is saying about telling stories
- how the novel’s structure is affected by telling stories in that part of the novel.

References to context are likely to focus on the young students’ need to keep their interest in stories secret because these stories are considered subversive.

Candidates may select from a range of material from the extract. These could include the following points:

- Rani’s feelings and reactions are partly physical, as stressed by the metaphors ‘my stomach was turning’, ‘my head was spinning’ and the simile ‘my throat was dry, like it had been sandpapered’
- Synonyms for sickness are used: ‘bile work its way up’, ‘threw up’
- The syndetic list of verbs (‘screamed and shouted and kicked’) indicate the violence of her feelings and need to protect herself
- The phrase ‘protecting my baby’ reminds us of her condition and shows she feels for others
- She is aware enough to note her parents’ abdication of responsibility.

- the violence in the Punjab
- the killing of Sukh.

Candidates may interpret ‘importance’ in a number of ways, which could include:

- how that part of the novel shows characters influenced by violence
- how that part of the novel shows violence affecting relationships
- how violence in that part of the novel drives the plot
- what the writer is saying about violence
- how the novel’s structure is affected by violence in that part of the novel.

References to context are likely to focus on the feud between the two families and the extreme reactions it provokes.

Reward any other valid points.

Candidates may select from a range of material from the extract. These could include the following points:

- John does not shrink from brutal truth: ‘working through page after harrowing page’
- He clearly visualises written accounts: ‘dashing his head on a gum tree’
- He empathises and relates his reading with his own circumstances: ‘listening to my own children playing... they became that little boy’
- He is almost hallucinating: ‘the water seemed to have turned red’
- He ignores current reality: ‘I hadn’t answered’
- He is in a state of ‘terror’.

Candidates may select from a range of material from the extract. These could include the following points:

- the onomatopoeic ‘whooping’ of the ‘colonial vigilante’ shows how the genocide was enjoyed by some, as also suggested by ‘grinning’ and ‘wild-eyed’
- the simile ‘like a polo mattock’ suggests it was a game
- emotive language evokes poignancy: ‘toddler’, ‘little boy’, ‘soft voices’
- this contrasts with the violence of verbs like ‘swings’, dashing’, ‘gallops’ and the ‘hardness’ of the tree

Candidates may draw on any relevant part of the text provided that the focus is on John’s concern for others (AO2ii) and a reference is made to the social, cultural, historical context (AO2iv).

Candidates must refer to ONE OTHER PART OF THE TEXT where John’s concern for others is shown or referred to, for instance:
- the treatment of Aboriginals in the past
- the treatment of Aboriginals in modern day Australia.

Candidates may interpret ‘importance’ in a number of ways, which could include:
- how that part of the text shows John influenced by concern for others
- how that part of the text shows John’s concern for others affecting relationships
- what the writer is saying about the importance of being concerned for others.

References to context are likely to focus on John’s learning about the treatment of Aboriginals.

Candidates may select from a range of material from the extract. These could include the following points:

- Jem understands his father’s situation and is concerned about him: ‘he’s got a lot on his mind’
- he sees the difference between his more mature awareness and Scout’s : ‘you can’t hold something in your mind’
- but he is a little tactless in the way he assumes superiority: ‘grown folks’
- Scout sees that he has changed from a provider of fun to a provider of ‘edification and instruction’
- he assumes adult powers: ‘I’ll spank you’.

- she challenges Jem with her questions: ‘Like what?’ ‘Who do you think you are?’
- she sees the change in Jem and is angered by it: ‘His maddening superiority was unbearable’
- her measured expletives show she is infuriated but they are also comic: ‘Jee crawling hova, Jem!’, ‘You damn morphodite’
- she is ‘sailing in’ like a man’o’war

Candidates may draw on any relevant part of the novel provided that the focus is on the relationship between Jem and Scout (AO2ii) and a reference is made to the social, cultural, historical context (AO2iv).

Candidates must refer to ONE OTHER PART OF THE NOVEL where the relationship between Jem and Scout is shown or referred to, for instance:

- the shared games in the early part of the novel
- experiences which are instructive but are seen from different perspectives: e.g. the killing of the dog, the trip to the church, Mrs Dubose, the trial
- the attack by Bob Ewell.

Candidates may interpret ‘importance’ in a number of ways, which could include:

- how that part of the novel shows characters influenced by their relationship
- how that part of the novel shows how their relationship develops
- how their relationship in that part of the novel drives the plot
- what the writer is saying about the relationship
- how the novel’s structure is affected by the relationship in that part of the novel.

References to context are likely to focus on the ways in which the two characters learn from their experiences.
