General Marking Guidance

- All candidates must receive the same treatment. Examiners must mark the first candidate in exactly the same way as they mark the last.
- Mark schemes should be applied positively. Candidates must be rewarded for what they have shown they can do rather than penalised for omissions.
- Examiners should mark according to the mark scheme not according to their perception of where the grade boundaries may lie.
- There is no ceiling on achievement. All marks on the mark scheme should be used appropriately.
- All the marks on the mark scheme are designed to be awarded. Examiners should always award full marks if deserved, i.e. if the answer matches the mark scheme. Examiners should also be prepared to award zero marks if the candidate’s response is not worthy of credit according to the mark scheme.
- Where some judgement is required, mark schemes will provide the principles by which marks will be awarded and exemplification may be limited.
- When examiners are in doubt regarding the application of the mark scheme to a candidate’s response, the team leader must be consulted.
- Crossed out work should be marked UNLESS the candidate has replaced it with an alternative response.

Candidates must underpin their analysis and evaluation with knowledge and understanding. Candidates will be required to demonstrate thorough knowledge and understanding as well as accuracy of religion and belief when responding to the question and in meeting AO2 descriptors.

AO2

Arguments for the statement:
- The scientific explanation of the creation of the universe can be accepted if the description in Genesis is regarded as metaphorical, and scientific theories have evidence to support them
- Metaphorical explanations support the creative power and spiritual importance of God as creator, without causing difficulty in understanding how creation could take place in 6 days
- Eminent Christians such as Augustine have questioned a literal understanding of Genesis 1-3 Augustine said ‘What kind of days these were it is extremely difficult, or perhaps impossible for us to conceive’.

Arguments against the statement:
- There are other understandings of the Genesis creation which mean it might not be metaphorical, some believe that God being omnipotent could create as the Bible describes
- The Bible use of the word days could possibly refer to periods of time, then the story ceases to be metaphorical and becomes easier to understand as it is supported by evolutionary evidence
- To describe the Genesis creation as metaphorical means it is a ‘story’ or ‘allegory’ Christians who perceive the Bible as Gods word would say this is disrespectful and lacking in understanding of Gods nature.

Candidates who do not consider different viewpoints within the religious tradition or non-religious viewpoints (as instructed in the question) cannot achieve marks beyond Level 2.

• Judgements are supported by generic arguments to produce a conclusion that is not fully justified. |
| Level 2 | 4–6 | • Superficial connections are made among many, but not all, of the elements in the question, underpinned by a limited understanding of religion and belief.
• Judgements of a limited range of elements in the question are made. Judgements are supported by an attempt to appraise evidence, much of which may be superficial, leading to a conclusion that is not fully justified. |
| Level 3 | 7–9 | • Deconstructs religious information/issues, leading to coherent and logical chains of reasoning that consider different viewpoints. These are underpinned by an accurate understanding of religion and belief. Connections are made among many, but not all, of the elements in the question.
• Constructs coherent and reasoned judgements of many, but not all, of the elements in the question. Judgements are supported by the appraisal of evidence, some of which may be superficial, leading to a partially justified conclusion. |

Arguments for the statement:
- Marriage is described in the Bible as the correct place for sexual activity. Hebrews 13 says ‘Let marriage be held in honour among all, and let the marriage bed be undefiled, for God will judge the sexually immoral and adulterous’
- Paul explained that sexual relationships are part of the purpose of marriage. ‘The husband should give to his wife her conjugal rights, and likewise the wife to her husband’
- Some Christians regard all sexual relationships outside of marriage as adultery which is forbidden in many places in the Bible

Arguments against the statement:
- Non-religious people would say sexual relationships are a natural part of a relationship where the couple try to make each other happy
- Some Christians would say that attitudes to sexual relationships have changed since the Bible was written and that now it is acceptable to have sex outside of marriage
- The Church of England teach that marriage is the ideal but have also publicly said that people who cohabit should have the same rights as those who are married.

AO2

Arguments for this statement:
- If all Christian worship in the same way they will have something in common with each other and will be able to support each other in their worship
- Christians should all believe the same things about Jesus and so should be able to worship in the same way, if they don't it leads to division
- All Christians should worship the way they were taught to by Jesus, he taught them the Lord’s Prayer and so Christians should use this.

Arguments against this statement:
- Some Christians would say that worship is personal, it is a way of honouring God and so it does not matter how a person does this this it is more important that they do it
- Some Christians would argue that worship reflects the difference between the Christian groups and that it is up to the denomination how they feel worship should take place
- Worship has been developed by different traditions and cultures, it helps those traditions and cultures feel closer to God, if it is worship of God the method of worship is unimportant.

- Many Christians believe that the resurrection is proof for life after death (1) even those who do not believe because of lack of evidence will be given life after death (1) 'For Christ also suffered once for sins, the righteous for the unrighteous, to bring you to God' (1 Peter 3:18) (1)
- Christians do not believe that they are being controlled because of their belief in life after death (1) they believe that belief in Jesus will lead to life after death and eternal freedom (1) 'I am the resurrection and the life. Whoever believes in me, though he dies, yet shall he live’ (John 11:25) (1)
- Christians would answer those who say it is merely a source of comfort with the response that it is a comfort but a real one (1) it is not an empty hope for the future but provides a purpose in life (1) Paul in 1 Corinthians said ‘The last enemy to be destroyed is death’ (1).

Candidates must underpin their analysis and evaluation with knowledge and understanding. Candidates will be required to demonstrate thorough knowledge and understanding as well as accuracy of religion and belief when responding to the question and in meeting AO2 descriptors.

AO2

Arguments for the statement:
- The teachings of Christianity say that life is sacred, it has been created by God and thus it is wrong to end a life for any reason, including that of the unborn
- Some Christians would recognise the importance of accepting the will of God, if God has willed a woman to become pregnant then it should be accepted
- Christians are taught that life is a special gift from God and that no one can say of another that their life is not worth living, to allow abortion devalues human life.

Arguments against the statement
- Some people would say that it might be compassionate to allow a woman to have an abortion, that the health of the woman (and her family) is more important than that of a foetus
- Situation ethics, which is supported by some Christians, would maintain that in each situation it is up to the individual to decide what is the most loving decision to be made and would justify the use of abortion in some situations
- Some people think it is acceptable if it is morally acceptable to those involved, if the person and all people involved with them are happy for it to take place and it does not harm anyone else.
